"While most of the legislators in Washington voting for conscription are doing so as a measure of defense, those who were most instrumental in writing the first Burke-Wadsworth Bill go further. It is their feeling that universal military service will give the country needed discipline, character and conservatism.

"They see in conscription an offset to subversive ideas. When talked with, they admit that a large standing army is a prime requisite for a dictator. They also admit that it is but a short step from conscription of soldiers to drafting of industry and labor. They stress that even should the war end suddenly the need of a large conscript army would not be lessened, for subsequent hard times would bring unrest that would 'have to be controlled.'"

Who is responsible for this outrage against the ballot in West Virginia? It has come to the at-tention of the Communist Party that the order came from circles in Washington, high in the coun-cils of the Democratic Party. This certainly is in keeping with the policy of both the Republican and Democratic parties, which maintain the voteless status of Negro citizens in the poll tax states of the deep South. I draw briefly upon our historic past for these examples of lawlessness to show how the re-actionary forces of those days, having seized political power, used it against the underprivileged and minorities, in order that the rule of the rich should not be challenged and curbed.

If, in the period of Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson, a reactionary merchant class, should seek to go to the extremes which it did, to entrench itself, is it not easy to see to what lengths the Weirs, Girdlers and the powers on Wall Street, rep-resented in the Republican and Democratic parties, will go today to retain what they have acquired through greed and selfishness What is more they aim to plunge this country into an adventurous war of conquest and imperialism against the overwhelming op-position of the people to involvement in war.

"For every attempt to suppress the Bill of Rights through the silencing of Earl Browder, we pledge ourselves to carry his speeches by printed word and radio into every home, factory and office of the land. Our message for peace, civil liberties, jobs, security and socialism will not be silenced-the American people will see to that."

The news that Browder's voice will be heard on the Pacific Coast through a recorded address, will be applauded by the people who see a threat to their most basic constitutional liberties in the attack on Browder.

Meanwhile, Browder's speech is being printed in millions of copies. No doubt tens of thousands of people are already laying plans to help spread Browder's message to the millions from whom the Administration is trying to keep it.

The Surest Road to Defeat In November

· A grim pre-view of what would happen if the draft bill were passed can be seen from what took place in the nation's capital two days ago. Scores of people protesting this fascist measure on the capitol steps were clubbed by the police and the Rev. Owen Knox and Rabbi Moses Miller, leaders of the delegation, were arrested. The Bill of Rights has no meaning, to the war-mongers, even under the capitol dome.

This display of fascist brutality took place as the draft sponsors conduct a sham debate on "protecting democracy." It shows conclusively that the Burke-Wadsworth bill is not only fascist in content, but that the Administration is using fascist methods in an attempt to pass it.

But throughout the country, the opposition of the people to this measure becomes more overwhelming every day. It is an evidence of this when the war-mongering New York Post yesterday had to write a front-page editorial warning that the draft was in "serious danger of defeat." It even went so far as to tell the outright lie that "the people of the United States want the conscription law," although there is no measure in history to which the labor and the American people have shown such un-

Even the passage of the tricky Fish nendment to the draft bill reveals Wall Street's fear of the people's protests. Rep. Fish declared: "If this amendment is passed the resentment that exists in the hearts of many people will die out. . . ." But the resentment of the American people will grow stronger, for they will see that this amend-ment to "delay" the draft is only for the purpose of getting the Burke - Wadsworth bill on the statutes now.

The damning admissions of the Post and of Fish show that the people can still defeat this infamous bill. The passage of the deagogic Fish Amendment will not save the members of House from defeat in Noper if they vote for the draft. Wire, or visit your Representatives at once -let them know that the surest road to defeat for them is to vote for this fascist

Latin America Fears Wall Street's 'Protection'

• As the gunboats, destroyers and cannon of the U. S. Navy begin to approach the coastline of the various Latin American ountries under the British naval base agreement, the peoples of these countries are not filled with unalloyed joy.

Not only on the Atlantic side, but also on the Pacific coast side of South America, are such bases being considered. Uruguay and Ecuador are being squeezed, with Ecuador 'less willing" as the New York Times reports discreetly.

Similarly, throughout South America the armed "protection" of the U. S. Navy is bewatched with suspicion and alarm by the people. After all, these people are very familiar with the imperialist brutality of Dollar Diplomacy which is no kinder or more loving than any other imperialism, British or German.

The people of South America have nothing to gain by an exchange of imperialist masters. What they need is complete liberation from all outside domination and exploitation. They want national independence. They are extremely doubtful that Wall Street is interested in their national independence.

Who can blame them? Certainly, the American people who know what Wall Street monopoly is like from first-hand experience will not blame them, but will readily understand and unite with them. Wall Street "protection" is a ring of steel imprisoning the peoples whom it is supposed to "protect.'

When the Honorable Mr. LaGuardia leaves for Chile as the bearer of good tidings to Chile from Wall Street, he is merely acting as the bearer of Dollar Diplomacy masked as innocent concern for the people of South America.

It is important for the people of this country to understand that the enslavement of South America by Wall Street will only make it easier for Wall Street to enslave the U. S. It is this which links the American people and the South American peoples in a common fight against their common enemy-Wall Street.

The Mayor Brings Back A Tin-Boxer

· Mayor LaGuardia still makes great pretense of having a "reform, non-partisan" Administration. He will have some tall explaining to do to square his claims with the appointment of former Mayor Walker as arbiter between the workers and employers in the garment industry.

For Walker is one of the most discredited of all the reactionary Tammany clique. He was driven from office by the indignation of the people, in the midst of a record of notorious reaction, and corruption and laborhating. In fact, LaGuardia was previously elected on an anti-Walker, anti-Tammany platform.

But all of that is now so much water under the bridge, and LaGuardia has totally forgiven in favor of "national unity." The magic words that brought the two "opponents" together are "national defense." the name of the fake defense program of the Administration and Wall Street, the Mayor has been attacking civil rights, having his police break up picket lines, scrapping social measures, firing his pro-labor aides, and competing with President Roosevelt and Willkie in war-mongering. This appointment is the surest proof that the war program and political corruption go hand in hand.

For the garment workers, LaGuardia's "gift" to them means new dangers to their union and wage levels. The very fact that the war-whooping Social-Democrat, Dubinsky, hails the appointment is enough to put them on guard. Dubinsky has always given aid and comfort to the tin-box brigade.

The feeling of the people toward Walker was shown when the Courts were compelled to nullify his recent $12,000 appointment as transit commission counsel because it was so obviously a pretext to give him a pension. LaGuardia's appointment, therefore, is a scandalous defiance of the people's sentiments, and destroys any possible illusions concerning his hypocritical "reform" Administration.

They Won't Be Intimidated

· When the Attorney General of Kentucky upheld the right of the Communist Party to be on the ballot in that state, he reflected the fundamental desire of the American people for free elections and for the right to choose their own candidates.

Although he pointed out that he did not "personally agree" with the Communists' policies, Attorney General Meredith quoted the Kentucky Constitution giving the people "at all times an inalienable right to alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they desire.

Now the Communist Party in Maine has been officially informed that it too is on the state ballot. And for the second time the California Supreme Court has been compelled to reject vigilante actions to remove the Communist slate from the ballot. Congratulations are due the Communists in these states for waging a successful fight in behalf of free elections and minority parties. Their work should be an inspiration to Communists in other states. For these achievements are taking place in the midst of the fierce drive of the Administration and state officials to deprive the Communists of their electoral rights.

But these achievements are based upon the hard fact that the American people will not be intimidated. The people are realizing increasingly that attacks against the Communists are a threat to their own political liberties, irrespective of their party affiliation. For if the Roosevelt Administration and its Republican and Democratic allies in the state governments can prevent citizens from signing nominating petitions for one minority party, it will not be long before all are banned, as actually did happen in Mas-

Everytime the Communist Party gets on the ballot, it is one more powerful blow against the efforts of Wall Street and the Administration to silence the people and maneuver them into the imperialist furnace.

Attempt to Quiet Labor's Dissatisfaction With the 'Defense' Program

 The statement on labor policy issued by the Defense Advisory Commission on the eve of Labor Day promises nothing concrete to meet the demands of labor, and is clearly intended to quiet the ever-growing dissatisfaction of the workers with the labor policy of the administration in the "defense" program and with the role of the so-called Labor Committee of the Advisory Defense Com-

In order to fully appraise the Commission's statement it is necessary to bear in mind that the workers generally and especially the workers in the industries immediately affected by the "defense" program (steel, auto, airplane, shipbuilding, etc.) have shown a mounting dissatisfaction and resentment against the big corporations and the Roosevelt Administration. They have seen the companies making huge war profits, receiving subsidies from the government, and yet refusing to live up to the labor laws or meet any of the demands of the workers for wage increases and other just needs. A number of strikes and stoppages have emphasized this growing impatience of the

The extent to which the workers' dissatisfaction is rising and, with it, the readiness to fight for their demands, is disclosed in the Aug. 30 issue of the "United States News," a weekly published for big business men. In reviewing the labor situation this publication admits that

"Already some members of the Labor Advisory Committee appointed by Sidney Hillman, Defense Labor Commissioner, are beginning to grumble. The burden of their complaint is that Mr. Hillman is less interested in protecting labor's gains than in producing war materials.

The complaining members of this 16man committee contend that Mr. Hillman who is a vice president of the CIO should be arguing labor's cause in the Defense Commission, not urging concessions on the unions.

"These members are beginning to ques tion whether they have been given actual authority in the defense program or whether they are there to be kept in line."

We do not know who the members of the Labor Advisory Committee are who "are beginning to grumble," but we do know from past performances of some of these labor leaders and the readiness with which they all joined Hillman in his statement of policy as previously embodied in the joint letter to the President, that if even these leaders "are beginning to grumble" then they must really be feeling the pressure of the rank and file of labor. Undoubtedly the membership of both the CIO and the AFL do not place their confidence in Hillman or Green but in the policies of John L. Lewis and his supporters on the CIO Board. It is clear furthermore that the call to action by Lewis, the position taken by such labor leaders as Curran, Quill, the local AFL leaders in the Boeing Aircraft, the demands raised by many AFL locals of the teamsters etc., are all having their effect.

We are further told by the "United States News" that the whole "Defense Commission itself is voicing increased oncern over threats to an important part of its labor peace program." It is this "concern" which explains the statement issued and exposes the true intent of this statement. We are not told whether this statement of the Advisory Defense Commission was first approved by the Labor Advisory Committee. If it was, we already have a good opinion as to what this "grumbling" on their part really meant. If they did not approve it, we have still to hear from them.

Now as to the statement itself. Does it promise labor higher wages, shorter hours without reduction in pay, assurance of giving contracts only to firms that recognize the bona fide unions and live up to all the labor laws of the land? It does nothing of the kind. Labor will have to fight for these demands with its own forces, in its own way, if it wants to achieve them. This is the way labor has won all its gains.

The Commission says: "In order that surplus and unemployed labor may be absorbed in the Defense Program, all reasonable efforts should be made to avoid hours in excess of 40 per week. However, in emergencies or where the needs of the National Defense cannot otherwise be met, exceptions to this standard should be permitted . . . overtime should be paid in accordance with the local recognized prac-

Does this statement in any way guarantee the 40-hour week? It certainly does not. First we are told that there is both "surplus' and "unemployed" labor. We would like to know what the Commission has in mind when it speaks of "surplus" labor as distinct from "unemployed" labor. Who and how many of the nine million unemployed are "surplus" labor? As to the 40-hour week, the Commission does not in any way limit the hours of labor to 40 hours. It merely speaks of "all reasonable efforts to avoid hours in excess of 40 per week." It is left to the "reasonable corporations-the Knudsens, Fords, Weirs, and Girdlers—to decide on these "reasonable" efforts. But even this call for "reasonable" efforts is immediately explained to us with "however, in emergencies . . . exceptions to this standard should be permitted." And as to overtime pay, this is passed off with the phrase that it "should be paid in accordance with local recognized practices." What these local 'recognized practices" are in the plants of the Bethlehem Steel and other open shop corporations that are especially favored with huge government orders, the workers well know. Here we have it. The corporations are making huge profits. But the workers are to receive no pay increases and not even pay for overtime at overtime rates.

The second important question dealt with in the Defense Commission statement concerns the enforcement of labor laws-the Walsh-Healy Act, Fair Labor Standards Act, the National Labor Relations Act, etc. This question has been raised most sharply and on numerous occasions by the CIO and its leader John L. Lewis. And what does the Commission say about this question? Merely that "all work carried on as part of the Defense Program should comply with Federal Statutory provisions affecting labor wherever such provisions are applicable." This is indeed a very vague formulation which again leaves open to the corporations to decide where and when the laws are "applicable"-that is, unless the workers themselves decide where these laws are applicable and enforce them through their own effort and organization.

We are of the opinion that the rising discontent of the workers which this statement tries to allay, will not be stifled with this "Labor Day" message from Knudsen, Stettinius, Hillman and Co. Some of the members of the Labor Advisory Committee who "grumbled" will perhaps be satisfied and "try to keep the workers in line." But we are doubtful if they will succeed. Labor has grown in numbers and understanding. Labor today has more militant leadership than ever before. Labor despite many illusions regarding the "defense" program is determined to protect its gains and to win better wages and working conditions.

Labor also will learn in this situation the true role of the Hillmans and Greens. It will learn that the very "representation" given to labor on the various war preparation committees is for the purpose of keeping "in line" not only the labor leaders, but also the workers with the aid of these same "labor leaders." Labor will learn that to defend its interests, it must oppose all of the war plans of the imperialists.

To learn all this, will be no small gain in itself. It will help détermine the road to genuine peace and security not only for labor, but for all the American people.

He has resigned as (gulp) President of Major General Motors, as (gulp) addirector of Major General Motors, as (gulp) member of the Policy Committee and (gulp) as member of the Administration Committee of the corporation we all love. our President has feit it necessary to resign. It would not be seemly for him to hand out war contracts to Major General Motors and to the Dupe Ont munitions and chemical family which owns us, if he still re-ceived his little stipend here. And so he is going to struggle on somehow without his annual salary and bonus of 3340,000. This is a terrific sacrifice—I trust you will never know the hardship of relinquishing a $340,000 salary and I am sure you never will.

"Of course, Mr. Knuts-to-you will still retain his amon and preferred stock in Major General Motors and the Dupe Ont Corporation and perhaps his divi-dends will do a bit of soaring as a result of war contracts. But Mr. Knuts-to-you has given his pledge that he will not think of his dividends for even one little minute while he is in Washington.

"It is also true that when the war is over, Mr. Knuts-to-you will undoubtedly return as President, Director, Policy Committee Member and Administration Member of Major General Motors, and perhaps receive bonuses on the profits that will have been piled up while he is away. But Mr. Knuts-to-you gives his solemn word not to think of these things either while he is in Washington.

"Fellow workers, let us say good-bye to our Presi dent. Let us say it not with tears (sob) but as he would have us say it. Let us put our shoulders to the tomorrow (sob) we are going to step up the belt line a bit in the name of William Knuts-to-you. Since our departed President is now going to receive only $1 a year (most of which will probably go back to the U.S. Treasury in exorbitant income taxes) we propose (sob) that we start building up a little nest over to be presented to Mr. Knuts-to-you upon bis egg to be presented to Mr. Knuts-to-you upon his return and to be made up of a 10 per cent reduction from your wages. And finally, fellow workers, since our dear William S. is forced through patriotism to resign from his corporation, we propose (sob) that you too resign (sob) from your whiten. This would be the best tribute (sob) to Mr. Knuts-to-you and the one he (sob) would love best. (Sob, sob, sob.)

Papa Churchill has a difficult problem on his hands—what to name those 50 little destroyers which Mama Roosevelt presented to him without benefit of Senate. This is the first time in the whole history of the Empire family that so many little ones have had to be named at one time and the strain is said to be telling. According to a dispatch in the N.Y. Times, London is considering naming the ships after figures of Colonial history, like Pocahontas, John Smith, etc. This is a fine idea, but to commemorate the deep affection that the American people have always felt for the Empire, how about naming them the Valley Forge, Bunker Hill, Boston Tea Party, etc.?

Or if revolutionary names prove a little embarrassing, how about calling them something like Franklin I, Franklin II, Franklin III, etc.

Perhaps the President's next surprise announcement will be that he has taken a 99-year lease on the

Appreciate Daily's Coverage of Their Union-Send Donation

Editor, Daily Worker:

The Rank and File club of Painters Local 848 went on record to support the Daily Worker and the Freiheit. This decision was made after a review of the role of the press in the Painters' election campaign. It was the Daily Worker and Freiheit which printed a fair account of the issues at stake. All the rest of the papers especially the New York Post and Jewish 'Daily Forward went on the bandwagon of Zausnerism and what it stood for.

Zausnerism and what it stood for. Now we are faced with a strike and we know that the painters of New York will know that only the Daily Worker and the Freiheit will espouse the cause of the Painters District Council 9.

The Women's Suffrage movement is an outstanding example of "Hollywood" mistreatment. Twenty years ago, the 19th Amendment to the Constitution giving suffrage to the women of America became the law of the land. But the forty-year struggle for the passage of this bill was made doubly difficult by the misrepresentations and alanders of the movement for women's rights that appeared on the screen between 1900 and 1920.

The factory owners fought against the movement agreement their "prime traditional purpose in life was to be in their homes, have children and live only to raise strong, useful men." In "Leah the Wagner Act and for the same reasons. In their speeches before the Masons, Odd-Feilows and Eliks they and that giving women equal rights and that giving women equal rights in the home not behind bars. Masons, Odd-Pellows and Elks they said that giving women equal rights with men would mean the end of the family unit and the return to the pre-glacial epoch. But amongst themselves, they were bitter because they knew the success of women's suffrage meant protective labor standards for millions of women to the success of the success of the picket-lines if they wanted to retain their normal standards for millions of women. they knew the success of women's suffrage meant protective labor standards for millions of women factory workers. Because the movies were delivered at birth and reared by the financial interests, the film studies ground out scores of malodorous films giving the employer's slant on women's rights.

This," the women have usurped the malodorous films giving the employer's stant on women's rights.

Touching On Few Subjects

By Lester Rodney

After their second straight defeat by the Detroit Tigers Thursday, members of the Cleveland Indians held meeting in their hotel room without benefit of the esence of Manager Vitt and laid new tactical plans for the final came of the series yesterday (results not known as this is written) All but two or three regulars attended, according to one of the players who was queried by a Cleveland scribe. Asked how they expected to carry out their plans without cooperation of Vitt, the spokesman, coording to the A.P. story, replied grimly:

"If we have to we'll give the orders ourselves. We are out to do only one thing and that is to win the pennant. We think we can do it but not with the kind of ball we've been playing lately."

A tragic little item from Toronto tells of an almost hopeless oper ation being performed to try to save the sight of the left eye of Sammy Luftspring, clever Canadian welterweight champ. The sight was impaired in a bout with Steve Belloise. I remember Stan Kurman telling me what a keen young prospect Luftspring was after his im-pressive debut here. Stan spoke to him in the dressing room and nd the typical young fighter, an intelligent boy who had thrown all his talent into the business of mastering the fistic game and was aiming for the money that comes only to the few who can hit the top. He must be no more than 24 years old.

Carvell Rowell is leading the National League in hitting down the home stretch, Nobody had ever heard of the young man this spring. He was a Dodger farm hand in Dayton two years ago, was just a fair looking left-handed hitter and his chief claim to fame was the setting of a new Middle-Atlantic League record for errors committed by a second baseman. The Dodgers record for errors committed by a second baseman. The Dougers dropped their strings on him. There were many better looking players on the Dayton team. But this was the kid who kept quietly developing, overcoming one fault after another and now he has a chance to be the National League batting champ. Patient teaching and recognition of his possibilities by the meager Boston farm system was the answer. They've turned up another young gem from Class B ball in Chet Ross, slugging left fielder.

Do you think the following pitching staff would have helped the Dodgers along this year? Buck Newsom, Tigers; Dutch Leonard, Senators; Johnny Babich, A's; Bill Posedel, Boston and Max Butcher, Pirates. They all worked for Brooklyn once. Not to mention catchers Ernie Lombardi and Al Lopez and second basemar. Linus Frey.

Times so far this year the swarthy pill-pounder of the Quakertowners has trumpel his own homer with another in the very next heat.

Other Long-Rangers have per-formed the duplex job once—Mize himself in Brooklyn May 13; Vince DiMaggio August 22 - but when Rizzo nudged Whitey Moore for a homer in the second inning of the second game in Cincinnati August 25, then another 4-bagger the very next inning, it marked the third time this year that John of the Phils had thusly endared himself to his Philadelphia public.

Said P. P. saw John's first exhibi-tion June 30, in the first game of a twin bill with the Giants. Paul Pittsburgh heroes had crowded into any one season in a half-century of Pirate history.

Rizzo connected for the circuit in the second inning, the first run off Paul. Up came Rizzo in the third Dean had the Phils shut out until Paul. Up came Rizzo in the third inning and again busted for the boundary, the last hit off Dean that day.

Showing Philly's complete neutrality in the age-old metropolitan feud between Giants and Dodgers, Johnny made it all square by socking Brooklyn with his quick-followup-homer strategem August 14, in the Dodgers home record

Decided flair for the bizarre has stamped Rizzo's big league homer-hitting career from the start. In that fine freshman year of his with the Pirates, 1938, he set a new all-time record by hit-ting official National League homers in 9 different ball parks

The defeat in the topsy turvy A.L. stretch drive found the champs drop a half game behind the Tigers in third place, still two behind the league leading Indians, who were trimmed again by Detroit 10-5. The Tigers, a generally overlooked flag threat, are just one game off the pace today.

G. Walker's first round tripper off Ruffing came in the first with the bases empty after Case had walked and been cut down stealing. It was a tremendous clout deep into the left center field stands, his lith of the year.

The Nats made it 2-0 in a The Nats made it 2-0 in a dramatic second inning. Early got a hit when his bounder took a bad hop past Dahlgren. Case singled to left, sending him to second. Lewis singled to right and Henrich's great throw apparently had Early at the plate, but Rosar dropped the ball. Lewis took second and Case third on the play. Here Ruffing did some great pitching, fanning Walker, purposely passing Travis to load the bases, and fanning Bloodworth.

It was Case's turn to bring the house down in the fifth when the Yanks filled the bases with none down and fafled to score. Rosar and Keller opened with singles, Buddy going to third.
